

GANDHI'S WIFE SENT TO JAIL FOR 6 WEEKS

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Justice Norman L. Jones of the Illinois supreme court observed in an address here that the United States has more laws forbidding people to do things and requiring them to do other things than any other country.

But, he added, "a confession of governmental weakness and inability to enforce the law is a statement unworthy of any patriotic American."

"You are four times safer from death by tuberculosis," said Justice Jones, "and three times safer from death by cancer than you are from going to jail sometime during your life."

DISSENSION IN CHINESE ARMY IS REPORTE

Troops Near Harb Fighting Among Themselves

By The Associated Press
Chinese troops were understood Harbin yesterday to be fighting among themselves in Northern Manchuria for the first time since the beginning

An army belonging to Governor Hsi Hsia of Kirm province has been bathing for several days near town of Pinhsien, 60 miles east of Harbin, with an unidentified foe. Fears were expressed that the hostilities might transgress the zone of the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned and controlled by China and Russia.

Chinese newspapers in Tientsin reported that Chinese troops had occupied the important city of Tashan on the Peiping-Mukden railway after 48 hours of heavy fighting with the Japanese, inflicting a hundred casualties.

A Japanese delegation in Tsin called at all newspaper offices threatened reprisals if news unfavorable to Japan were published. Authorities were vigilant in fear of repetition of the serious rioting

Report Fighting

Harbin, Manchuria, Jan. 15—

For the first time since Japan occupied Manchuria, Chinese soldiers are reported to be fighting among themselves today about sixty miles east of Harbin.

The fighting has been going on several days near the obscure market town of Pinhsien and it was well understood that Japanese airplanes were cooperating with Governor forces, numbering 3,000 men, towns of Pinhsien, Wuchang Yushu have been bombed.

Pinkshien is the seat of a small group of politicians and generals who owe allegiance to Governor Chang Hsiang before he was ousted in favor of Hsi Hsia. When the new government was formed, they continued to carry on the old regime in a small area, acknowledging the sovereignty of the Republic of China.

Recently, Governor Hsi, possibly the instigation of his Japanese advisers, turned his attention to eliminating the rival group on the ground that it was menacing the well-being of Kirin province. Pihhsien thus attracts attention in the attempt of the Japanese to root out the last remnants of Chinese authority in Manchuria.

HONOLULU TO RE-ORGANIZE POLICE FORCE

Two Investigations Into City's Crime Situation Start

Honolulu, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Already facing two investigations in Honolulu's crime situation and its climax in attacks on women and a resort to lynch law, the territorial administration acted today for a quick reorganization of the city's allegedly inefficient and politically crippled police department.

A bill designed to purge the department of politics and provide it with an appointed, instead of elected, head was prepared for presentation to the special session of the territorial legislature Monday.

Legislature Summoned. Legislative authorities said they expect the bill to become a law within four days. The legislature has been summoned by Gov. Lawrence M. Judd especially to deal with the crime situation.

Blamed by a congressional committee for acts which allegedly contributed toward the recent trouble, Judd also promised to ask the legislature to make the crime of rape punishable by death or life imprisonment. The matter of bringing to trial Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society matron, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two navy enlisted men charged with the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, alleged attacker of Mrs. Massie, was held in abeyance.

The county grand jury was organized and Deputy Griffith Wright said six routine criminal cases would be its first business.

James P. Gilliland, county attorney, charged that the investigations in Washington constitute a move "to get me out of office" and said he would have "a few things to tell the investigators myself."

In charging the grand jury, Circuit Judge Charles E. Davis stressed the importance of its duties and urged it to refrain from passing "well minded individuals who sometimes attempt to influence the action of the grand jury and the administration of justice."

The grand jurors will pass upon the case of Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and the enlisted men, Albert, Jones and E. J. Lee. All told the court they are citizens and voters and can understand, read and write English.

MONSIGNOR CAREW IS GUEST IN HOME HERE

Monsignor Paul T. Carew, P.E.D., L.L.D., Mr. of the Roman Catholic church in Orange, N. J., was a visitor Thursday evening in the home of Dr. M. L. McDonough and family, 222 Hardin avenue. Monsignor Carew, who was en route to San Antonio, Tex., came here especially to chat with Miss June McDonough, 14-year-old sophomore in MacMurray College, who finished her high school course when 13 years of age. The New Jersey priest became interested in the local student when he saw her photograph in eastern newspapers two years ago.

Monsignor Carew is the author of several books, copies of which he has sent to Miss McDonough. Her remarkable attainment of finishing high school at the age of 12 attracted much attention among educators of the country. She formerly lived at Winchester.

DEFENDANT IN LIQUOR TRIAL TELLS STORY

Before this Bell had voiced the threat he would kill him if he talked, Eben stated.

A few days later, he said, he was told to go to Harrison's house because "the bond wasn't signed right." When Kane wanted to tear it up, Eben chose to go to jail.

On Jan. 18, he said, Blumberg let him out of the cell, and downstairs in the jail he found Mrs. Blumberg, Kelly and Harrison. Blumberg told him Mrs. Blumberg would sign the bond and when it was pointed out an Illinois signer was necessary, Harrison said his wife would sign, he testified.

Paul Cingula faced possible contempt of court action today because he brushed away Mrs. Henry Kane, who attempted to identify him as one of the men she had seen on the alleged Besse farm leased by her husband.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Anderson asked Judge Walter C. Lindsey to reprimand Cingula, but the court said he "may do more at the conclusion of the trial."

Mrs. Kane testified that Art Cooper of Chicago, defendant, threatened to throw her husband in the Mississippi river if he did not meet a truckload of alcohol coming into Fulton.

Federal prohibition agents told of raids on distilleries on the Dumont farm near Aurora, Ill., and in Chicago and of finding certain defendants on the premises.

The government claims the distilleries were part of the conspiracy which supposedly extended from Chicago to Clinton.

MELLON DENIES SEN. PATMAN'S ACCUSATIONS

The Gulf Oil company conferred with representatives of the Colombian government to arrange the concession.

Before turning to the Colombian affair, Gregg dealt with each charge in Patman's impeachment resolution, which, in general, contends Mellon has engaged in business in violation of federal law.

Gregg said he did not know whether Mellon owns stock in 300 corporations with resources of $3,000,000,000.

"Mr. Mellon controls no corporation," he emphasized. "He does not own more than 50 percent of the stock in any corporation. I do not regard his family as an issue."

Another time, he said, Mellon owned "about 15 percent" of the stock of the Aluminum company of America. Gregg drew on his own seven years of experience in the internal revenue bureau, of which he was once chief counsel, to say:

"The secretary of the treasury has never passed on a tax refund since 1920. I know that of my own knowledge."

Since being secretary, he said, Mellon has received $91,000 in refunds of taxes of which he described "clearly allowable" by the joint congressional tax committee, and had been assessed $209,000 in additional taxes.

Gregg said Mellon disposed of all his bank stocks and created an irrevocable trust to dispose of his disallowable holdings before taking office. He denied the secretary ever used his influence to further the use of aluminum in public buildings.

Gregg said other secretaries of the treasury, including William G. McAdoo and Carter Glass, now senator from Virginia, had owned stock.

"It seems to me," he said just before the committee adjourned, "that the history and the uniform construction has been that ownership of stock is not in itself sufficient to disqualify a man under the statute now under consideration."

Stocks, 1,822,000; bonds, $15,173,000

Associated Press Financial Writer
New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Undismayed by early declines of 1 to 3 points, the stock market closed fresh buying support during the later dealings today.

Although there was some irregularity at the close, final prices on the average showed an even balance between small gains and losses and bullets converts felt that the stronger turn of the current week had been maintained.

United States government bonds turned reactionary, as was to be expected; there was also some selling in rail loans, but the market hardened toward the end. Trading in both stocks and bonds slackened turnover in the former dropping to 1,822,000 shares, or roughly a million shares less than on Thursday.

Both markets seemed to be discouraged by the delays at starting the railroad wage and employment conference, both, however, picked up when Chicago dispatches said negotiations were actually to get underway. New York Central led the upturn in carrier shares, although ton prices in the group failed to carry through to the close.

Farm implement stocks were strong, featured by Case and John Deere. Utilities firmed, once the recovery started; nevertheless, American Telephone wobbled in the last ten minutes and lost 1/4 on the day. U. S. Steel, which had sold off a point, finished 1/2 higher.
Tobacco quieted down.

Credit conditions were distinctly easier. Dealers cut rates on 60 to 90 day bills by one-eighth of one per cent, bringing the asking rate of a per cent under the rediscunt figure, a spread which is usually corrected through a cut by the federal. An active demand for acceptances finds banks discounting them at 3 per cent because they expect larger profits.

Sterling exchange continued its rise, reaching the best levels since last November. It is possible that some of the French balances here are being moved to London where money rates are much higher; also, there may be some uneasiness abroad concerning proposed credit expansion here.

Commodities firmed slightly. Bullish Canadian weather and a strong cash position brought net gains of 1 to 4 in wheat. Favorable Argentine ex-imates and the steady news gave corn slight encouragement. Cotton closed unchanged to 3 points higher.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Hog prices recovered somewhat today from the slump of yesterday in which prices were the lowest in thirty-two years.
Sharp curtailment of marketing was responsible for the upturn. The market opened briskly and closed unevenly 10 to 25 cents above yesterday's averages. Today's top was 4.35 shipper's, 4.00 dealer's, 3.90 packer's.
The small receipt of cattle, 1,500 was a help to the market. Even the common light steers and she stock that had been a drag on the market for two days attracted bids. Calf receipts fell off nearly 2,500 head for this week and prices were inclined to move higher.

The sheep market closed strong to 25 cents higher than yesterday's averages. Local sheep and lamb receipts were almost half as compared with today a week ago and sellers were in a bullish frame of mind.

ROTARY CLUBMEN HEAR TALKS BY TWO SPEAKERS FRIDAY

F. J. Heintz Gives Interesting Sketch of Farm Life of Washington

More than sixty Morgan county agriculturists were guests of members of the Jacksonville Rotary club at the weekly meeting yesterday noon, held at the Peacock Inn. It was "Farmers Day" for the club and an "Agricultural Program" was given with, Albert C. Wilson, seed analyst of Springfield, Ill., and Frank J. Heintz of this city on the program.

The meeting opened with group singing, led by the choir. Clarence P. McClelland of MacMurray College for Women, following the group singing, President Charles A. Tor, introduced Frank J. Heintz, who acted as chairman of the meeting. In his introductory address Mr. Heintz gave a very interesting historical sketch of the farm life of George Washington, laying the foundation for the address of Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Heintz's remarks follow: "My country is this year commemorating the two hundred anniversary of the birth of Washington who was not only the commander of the American army in the Revolution, but also the first President of the United States, but, also, the largest American land owner and most progressive farmer of his day."

The Washingtons were rooted to the soil. George's ancestry traces back to the Sulgrave Washingtons, a parol English squire, small estate about one degree above the yeoman farmers in the English social scale. One of them, a clergyman, who was discharged from his living by Cromwell's parliament upon charges of misconduct, which were probably purely political, had a son, John, who came to Virginia.

John married a planter and as his wives died married two more farms, became rooted to American soil, a colonel, a member of the House of Burgesses and founded a first family of Virginia. The Washingtons were in the colonial landed aristocracy.

John's son, Lawrence, inherited a ghostly character, passed lands he inherited from his father on to his son Augustine, the president's father, who spent his life farming, iron-mining and smelting, buying and selling, counting and computing. He knew how to advance himself and soon reached the top.

George inherited from his father, who died in 1743, when George was only eleven years old, a 280 acre farm, some other lands and lots and ten slaves, none of which George took over until his mother's death, forty-six years later.

Before George was twenty-one, he had acquired 1538 acres of land through his own efforts as a surveyor. After the death of his brother, Lawrence, he became the ultimate inheritor of the Mount Vernon plantation and it became his absolutely in 1761. When he married Martha Curtis, she brought him 15,000 acres of land, town lots, 150 slaves and $100,000 in cash and securities, which belonged to her first marriage and through marriage to him and her son and daughter in equal shares. When the father died, she willed all her property to him.

Following his marriage, Washington devoted himself indefatigably to the management of his own and his step-children's estates. He acquired such agricultural works as were available and sought to improve everything where. He loved country life and soon became one of the wealthiest men in America and the most popular planter in Virginia.

In 1771 he paid taxes on 13,460 Virginia acres. After the French and Indian war, he was awarded 10,000 acres of rich bottom lands on the Ohio and Kanawha rivers and soon acquired surveys for 10,000 acres more. In the time of his death, he was worth three-quarters of a million dollars and his will disposed of 60,203 acres and many town lots.

On his Mount Vernon estate, he produced not only tobacco and wheat, but tested out all other promising crops. He practiced crop rotation, soil conservation and betterment, and conducted all sorts of experiments. After the close of the war, the former commander in chief of all the armies, laboriously ascertained that there were 71,000 red clover seeds in a pound tray, and 293,000 timothy seeds and 8925 barley seeds in the same pound tray.

His greatest livestock interests were horses, especially animals, mules and sheep, but he also raised hogs, deer, turkeys, cattle, geese, dogs and Negroes. He made Mount Vernon an experimental station for all sorts of trees and plants. He himself planted, grafted, and budded and grew from seeds and cuttings. He beautified his estate with many trees and plants, some of which remain to this day, gave close attention to his kitchen garden and built a greenhouse for exotics. He was the first American who bred mules.

After he became famous, he received presents of animals and plants from all over America and many from foreign lands. Books piled up in his library, which came to smell of harness, cedar boughs and medicines, and Mount Vernon became a botanical garden and variegated menagerie. He took to planting with passion. He planted, but mortality was great, however, his laurels kept bright and green. He took off his coat when he needed help, his Negroes pitch lay or helped repair broken down vehicles of waggons. He planted manures with his own hands, planted flower gardens to please Martha and swam regularly in the Potomac. His diaries reveal his personal attention to his farm interests even to "naming his dogs with his own hand" and "deserving the name of his horse."

One of the principal features was an exhibition of roller skating by patients. This form of amusement is being used with very good results at the hospital. As far as is known the hospital here is the first institution in the world to employ roller skating as a therapy method for patients.

There was also the dance numbers patients presented various vaudeville acts. Representatives of the department of public welfare were present. They included: Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bowen, Mrs. Silvis and Fred Dadds.

GOOD APPLES ARE PICKED FROM TREE IN MID WINTER

Another occurrence of the unusual thing which are now reported quite often as the outcome of the freakish winter we are experiencing was told to a reporter yesterday.

Rapp brothers yesterday were presented with a peck of fine apples of the Pippin variety which were picked Thursday by Scott B. Green from a tree on his farm east of the city. From time to time this winter, Mr. Green has picked apples from a number of trees and the fruit has always been found to be in good condition, well preserved, and to have received no damage from what cold weather we have had. It is indeed quite unusual for this climate when one can go to the orchard and pick good apples on the fourteenth of January.

HUNT FOR THIEVES WHO TOOK CASH FROM CASS SAFE

The theft was discovered this morning when Dan Meany, assistant to the treasurer, opened the office. He found the safe door standing open. Examination disclosed that $104 in cash had been taken, also a number of checks.

PROPOSED ROAD DRAWS ATTENTION OF TWO GROUPS

The Franklin Times this week joined in an editorial war the battle of citizens of that community to induce the state highway department to change the route of Highway 104 as proposed in the final surveys.

The Times in a lengthy editorial censured the state department for its stand on the matter, and urged the county board of commissioners to use their power in changing the route so that it will pass through the business district of the town.

The present survey of Route 104 takes the highway along the Burlington tract to through the south part of the village. A petition bearing the signatures of more than 500 citizens has been presented to the county board asking them to urge upon the state highway division the advisability of using a part of the existing highway to do all in your power to secure right-of-way in time to have the road completed this year.

In presenting the petition Mr. Tomlinson stated that several had written letters asking the board to speed the project. He urged that people in the communities to the southeast are eager for a route to the county seat, and that people of Jacksonville are also desirous of all-weather communication with friends and business clients in that section of the county.

The petition presented yesterday morning is as follows: "To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Morgan: We, the undersigned citizens of Morgan County, beg of you, the Commissioners of the County of Morgan, to do all in your power to secure right-of-way and help in the early completion of Route 104 between Jacksonville and Waverly."

We understand that the dedication papers for this route will be out within the next thirty days and at this time the right-of-way can be secured. We have waited a long time for this road, and we certainly want every thing done at this time for the early completion of this route.

MORE CATTLE ON FEED IN STATE THAN YEAR AGO

United States Figures Show Smaller Number Feeding
in Nation

There were 5 per cent more cattle on feed in Illinois on January 1 this year than at the same time in 1931 according to a survey made by the Illinois and federal departments of agriculture. Shipments of cattle and calves into Illinois for the past few months have been considerably larger than in the previous year, but some of these will not actually be put on feed for market until later in the year.

A much larger proportion of the usual of the feeders are lighter weight steers and calves. Most of the small proportion of heavy weight feeders will be ready for market in January, but after that marketings will be light until after May when the large number of lighter weight feeders will go to market.

United States. The number of cattle on feed for market on January 1, 1932 in the eleven corn belt states was about 5 per cent smaller than on January 1, 1931. In the five states east of the Mississippi river there was an estimated increase of about 8 per cent. In the three states of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri as a whole there was no change but in the three western corn belt states there was a decrease of about 18 per cent. There were marked decreases in Colorado, Utah and Idaho, some decrease in Wyoming, Nevada and California, small increases in Oregon and Washington and a sharp increase in Arizona. The percentage increase of 10 to 20 per cent in cattle feeding in Texas this year over last, and in the Lancaster district of Pennsylvania the number was 25,000 to 30,000 head more than the small number last year.

The trend of the feeding industry to feeding light weight steers and calves is continuing with reports showing a considerable increased proportion of these lighter feeders. Feeders expect to market a considerably smaller percentage of feeders during the first three months of 1932 than in the same months of 1931.

The estimated number of cattle on feed January 1, 1932 as a percentage of the number January 1, 1931 for the different states is: Ohio 115, Indiana 120, Illinois 105, Michigan 104, Wisconsin 95, Minnesota 90, Iowa 100, Missouri 104, S. Dakota 102, Nebraska 80, Kansas 95, and the corn belt 94.8 per cent.
